ARGUE FARRAR CASE

Disputed Point of Law Issue in United State Court of Appeals.

Montpelier, May 8.—J. H. Senter of this city, and L. C. Moody of Waterbury, have returned from New York city, where they appeared for the defendant in the case of United States vs. John C. Farrar before the United States circuit court of appeals.

It will be remembered that Farrar was found guilty of embezzling the funds of Waterbury National Bank and was sentenced to seven years in the state prison at Windsor.

The state allows a commutation of sentence of five days a month for good behavior. Not long ago, Congress passed a law allowing a greater number of days each month for good behavior. The question is as to whether this United States law applies to cases where sentence was imposed prior to its passage.

Judge Hoyt H. Wheeler of the United States district court decided in favor of the defendant and the case was taken to a higher court by order of the attorney general of the United States.

LORD'S WORK DEFINED.

The Rev. C. C. Conner at Universalist Church.

OPENED HIS PASTORATE

Lord's Work Is Not Living So as to Escape a Fearful Doom or With Hope of Great Reward But Development of Pure Character, He Said.

At the Universalist church yesterday morning the Rev. Charles C. Conner preached his first sermon as pastor of the church to a good sized congregation. Before beginning his sermon Mr. Conner said that since he had received the call to become pastor of this church and in the times that he had supplied the pulpit he had become interested in the church and somewhat acquainted with the members.

"I have come here," he said, "to be your leader. I want to be your helper and co-worker. The success of the church does not depend wholly upon the minister. He must have help from the people. I want to work with you six days in a week then come here on Sunday and rest with you."

"The Work of the Lord" was the subject of Mr. Conner's sermon. Mr. Conner taking for his text Corinthians 15:58, "Therefore my beloved brethren, be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

We may first inquire, he said, what is the work of the Lord? Some might say that it is preaching the gospel, saying our prayers, attending church services and helping to support the church. Mr. Conner's definition, in brief, was that the work of the Lord is the development of man. That it was not living so as to escape some fearful doom or with the hope of enjoying some heavenly existence, but to work for the development of a pure moral character in ourselves and others.

"When God made man he was first a possibility rather than a product, and in this development he became a co-worker with God. The encouragements for the work of the Lord are that life is immortal and the grave is not the goal; that the good shall win and God shall be all in all."

The subject of his sermon at the evening service was "Christian Treatment of the Erring."

PREVENTED A PANIC.

Policeman Wouldn't Let Crowd Out of Swanton Theatre.

Swanton, May 8.—An alarm of fire was given Saturday night at about 9:30. It proved to be in the barn connected with the Hotel Swanton. Although the firemen arrived promptly and had two streams ready the fire was practically put out with pails of water. The fire was in the wall on the south side. The greatest excitement was at Bullard's hall, where the play "Hooligan's Troubles," was being given. When the alarm was given some one said it was in the store under the hall and there was a wild scramble to get out. Officer Hilliker stood at the door and refused to let anyone out until the excitement had abated. In a short time the wisdom of his judgment was seen and the hall was quiet and it was a fortunate thing, as the stairs are steep and there is no doubt many would have been injured had a rush been made. The play continued and those who went out soon returned.

HYDE WILL NOT RESIGN.

Counsel Says He Will Protect Interests and Reputation.

New York, May 8.—Samuel Untermyer of counsel for James H. Hyde, vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, speaking for Mr. Hyde at New York Saturday, said: "All talk of Mr. Hyde's resignation under any circumstances is mere bosh and circulated for a purpose. Whatever may be the course of others who have no interests at stake, Mr. Hyde has his interests and his reputation to protect, and he will protect them."

Harvey Barnett of Morrisville has a rare freak of nature wherein two small trees of the striped maple variety are joined by a common branch not unlike the connection of the famous Siamese twins. The trees, which are about two inches in diameter, grew about five feet apart and the branch connecting them appears to grow from both. At least, it would be hard to decide which is the parent tree. Mr. Barnett found the curiosity in his woods and will preserve it as the queerest thing in tree-growth he has ever run across.

Sour Stomach

"I used Cascarets and feel like a new man. I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia and sour stomach for the last two years. PAINFUL PERIODS

AMERICAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Miss Irene Crosby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that menstruation is the balance wheel of a woman's life, and while no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely.

Miss Irene Crosby

Thousands of American women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Miss Irene Crosby, of 313 Charlton Street East Savannah, Ga., writes:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to women. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful menstruation when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

MURDER THEORY WIPED OUT.

No Ground for Suspicion Against Parents in Braley Case.

Danbury, N. H., May 8.—County Solicitor M. D. Colledge of Lebanon presided at an inquiry Saturday into the cause of the disappearance of little Edwin Braley, which, while it could not be called an inquest, was a sort of judicial proceeding to ascertain what facts existed that might throw some light on the remarkable circumstances attending the case.

Absolutely nothing new was brought out in the way of evidence, but the testimony satisfied every man present there was nothing at hand to indicate that a murder had been committed. On the contrary, what little in the way of facts there was was strongly in favor of a theory of kidnapping. The demeanor Mrs. Braley appealed especially to those who heard all the testimony, and her appearance was the cause of considerable surprise among those who had never seen her, but who judged her solely by the reports of certain Boston newspapers in regard to her. Instead of a wild and irresponsible creature she had been painted, they found her fairly well educated, blessed with some of the best attributes of her sex. While not fashionably dressed she carried herself with an air of independence which bespoke defiance of an accusation of guilt, and her entire bearing was that of a woman who was not afraid to tell the world what she knew of the disappearance of her little son.

WERE NOT POISONED.

Colts Owned by Georgia Man Died from Influenza.

Burlington, May 8.—It has been found that the sudden death some time ago of three colts owned by B. A. Wood of Georgia was due to natural causes and not by poisoning as was first supposed. The beasts were sick but a short time, the death of one following the other after a few days. A neighbor was suspected of maliciously poisoning the animals and the stomachs of each were sent to the state laboratory for examination. The director has written to the state's attorney, in whose hands the case was placed, that the death of the colts was no doubt due to an aggravated attack of influenza. Several cases of this character have come to the attention of the veterinarians this spring. Soon after the horse is attacked with the influenza there comes a paralysis of the nerves of the heart. The cases are usually fatal.

THE ST. LOUIS LAUNCHED.

Protected Cruiser Goes Overboard at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 8.—The protected cruiser St. Louis was launched Saturday at the Neale & Levy shipyard. Miss Gladys Bryan Smith of St. Louis acted as sponsor, assisted by Miss Mary S. STANDARD OIL INDICTMENTS

Against Two High Officials in the Corporation

TRYING TO INDUCE PERJURY

Is the Offense Alleged in the Bill at Pekin, Ill. — One Way of Crushing Competition.

Pekin, Ill., May 8.—The grand jury has returned indictments against two high officials of the Standard Oil company. Requisition papers will be asked of Gov. Deneen today. The names have been suppressed. The two officials are charged with having induced one Charles Kercher to swear that he owned a horse and wagon, which really belonged to the Standard Oil company, to get possession of the same in order to force Fred Hamsuit, a resident of Pekin, to quit selling the product of the Royal Oil company, an opposition concern. The story is as follows: In 1901 Hamsuit bought from a man who represented himself to be an agent of the Standard Oil company a tank wagon used in peddling oil about the streets of the city. After a time he ceased to handle the Standard oil and began to sell the product of the Royal Oil company. Repeated efforts to get Hamsuit to buy from the Standard having failed, Kercher arrived on the scene and, after failure to induce him to return to the Standard, filed suit in the court of Justice Jacob Rapp to replevin the wagon, swearing that it was his property. He made the case stick, furnished the necessary replevin bond, and on May 15, 1902, was given possession of the property. The case was called to the attention of the office of the attorney-general of the state of Ohio, and in conjunction with the city attorney of Pekin (now state attorney) Charles Schaefer, evidence was secured which showed conclusively that the property belonged to the Standard Oil company and that Kercher, who replevined it, is a secret-service man in their employ. State Attorney Schaefer is authority for the statement that every effort has been made to bring the two officials to Pekin for trial.

In a statement made before he left Pekin Kercher said that he was acting as a district manager for the Standard Oil company at the time, and that he was sent to Pekin with orders to break up competition in that city. He also said that the official who had been over the Ohio district was C. T. Collings of Cincinnati. Kercher also mentioned the name of G. W. Taylor of Kentucky. At the Peoria offices of the Standard Oil company it was said that Taylor was not an official of the company at any time, but was simply an employee of the company. It was further stated that he had not been in the employ of the company for two years. B. W. Cooney of Pekin, who represented Hamsuit, displayed a letter written by Frank L. Monnett, who was attorney-general of Ohio at the time. In the letter Monnett gave Cooney advice as to how to proceed. The letter stated that it was probable a large sum of money would be sent to Pekin to fight the case for Kercher, and directed Cooney to keep in touch with Monnett and keep Monnett posted as to developments. The negotiations were all carried on through Robert Lashley, the Peoria manager of the Standard Oil company in the immediate district. Lashley went to Peoria from Birmingham, Ala., and is not now connected with the Standard Oil company.

The indictment of the two Cincinnati men, says a dispatch from Columbus, came about through information given the prosecutor at Pekin by former Attorney General Frank Monnett, who was called to Kansas some time ago to investigate Standard Oil methods. Monnett knew of Kercher's connection with the Standard Oil company and of the alleged aiding and abetting of perjury by men in Cincinnati, for whom warrants are said to have been sworn out in Pekin. Kercher appeared before the grand jury on the advice of Mr. Monnett and other prominent lawyers in Columbus, on the promise of immunity. Mr. Kercher will appear as the principal witness for the state of Illinois when the case comes up for trial. He is now in Columbus but refuses to talk of the case.
